BIOGRAPHIES

Me, Son of man Ezekiel, descendant of Adam, member of the fallen race who needs salvation, but not a traitor

The LORD, the Sovereign LORD the Eternal One who does what He pleases and no one or nothing can stop Him

The people, you rebels the traitors who reject God's authority and resist His control

Israel Jacob after he joined forces with God at his conversion

THING PROFILES

A message an official verbal communication That proverb A short sentence often repeated, expressing a well known truth or common fact, ascertained by experience or observation Prophecies supernatural instructions from God enabling Ezekiel to foretell, predict, or declare something to come Time a season Nothing zilch, zip, nada This something near What substitute for a sentence or one of its parts An end close or conclusion New Lately made, invented, produced or come into being, fresh Old long used False visions Counterfeit; forged; not genuine, untrue - a revelation from God; an appearance or exhibition of something supernaturally presented to the minds of the prophets, by which they were informed of future events Flattering predictions tickling the ear - forecast, projection Threat declaration of an intention or determination to inflict punishment, loss or pain on another. Destruction demolition, ruin, total annihilation Lifetime generation, lifespan The distant future remote, far off - time to come, after the present A long, long time lengthy, great extended season Delay put off, deferment What substitute for a sentence or one of its parts Everything whatever INSIGHTS v.21 So the exiles won't accuse him of making it up. Ezekiel establishes his authority as a prophet. Validates the message.

v.22 The people have said it so much and for so long, even Ezekiel has heard it practically accusing the LORD of bluffing.

v.23 God disagrees with the traitors. He will replace their old proverb with a new, opposite slogan: the jig is up.

v.24 The time for mincing words and telling the people what they want to hear is over.

v.25 The LORD assures the people of the certainty of His words. The destruction He promised will come true in their lifetime.

v.26 So the exiles won't accuse him of making it up. Ezekiel establishes his authority as a prophet. Validates the message.

v.27 The traitors are still in denial, surmising that prophecies of destruction will eventually happen, but not to them.

v.28 Since He does what He says and no one can stop Him, the LORD is about to execute everything He said right away.

21

Again Like before

a message came to me an official verbal communication arrived at Ezekiel, its destination

from the LORD: the LORD was its source

"Son of man, you've heard that proverb Ezekiel, member of the fallen race descended from Adam – but not a traitor – you have perceived with your own ears that short well known truth or common fact from experience they quote in Israel: the traitors within the boundaries of the Promised Land cite from memory

'Time passes, and prophecies come to nothing.' A season runs out, but predictions of the future never happen

23 Tell the people, Inform the traitors who reject God's authority and resist His control

'This is what the Sovereign LORD says: What I am about to tell you will be the message the Eternal One who does what He pleases and no one or nothing can stop Him sent to me

I will put an end to this proverb, I, the Eternal One, will finish off your well-known truth or common fact from experience

and plus

you will soon stop quoting it.' You traitors must shortly cease citing it from memory

Now without further ado give them this new proverb pass on to the traitors this fresh slogan to replace the old one: to substitute for the one they have worn out

'The time has come for every prophecy to be fulfilled!' The season has arrived for all predictions of the future to come true

24

"There will be no more false visions I, the Eternal One will not permit any more counterfeit predictions of the future and or flattering predictions in Israel. forecasts that tickle ears within the boundaries of the Promised Land

25

For because

I am the LORD! I, the Eternal One am in charge

If whenever

I say it, it will happen. I, the Eternal One put something into words, whatever I said must come true

There will be no more delays, I, the Eternal One will not permit any further postponements you rebels of Israel. you traitors descended from Jacob after his conversion

I will fulfill my threat of destruction, I, the Eternal One must execute my personal declaration to inflict punishment in your own lifetime. During this generation

I, the Sovereign LORD, have spoken!" I, the Eternal One who does what He pleases and no one or nothing can stop me already said it

26

Then Next, right after that this message came to me this official verbal communication arrived at Ezekiel, its destination

from the LORD: the LORD was its source

27

"Son of man, the people of Israel are saying, Ezekiel, member of the fallen race descended from Adam – but not a traitor – the traitors descended from Jacob after his conversion keep, or still claim

'He's talking about the distant future. Ezekiel refers to the remote, far off - time to come

His visions won't come true for a long, long time.' Ezekiel's predictions will not come true until well into the future

28

No more delay! No further suspensions

I will now do everything I have threatened. I, the Eternal One must execute whatever punishment I declared for the future

I, the Sovereign LORD, have spoken!" I, the Eternal One who does what He pleases and no one or nothing can stop me already said it.
